Who Should Attend:

MTA is specifically designed for experienced professionals who are providing medical evaluations of children who are suspected victims of child abuse. Objectives for this training include 1) communicating the history, structure and development of CACs in the US, 2) explaining the expectations of the medical professional in the evaluation of pediatric sexual and physical abuse victims as defined by the NCA medical standard and identifying settings, challenges and benefits of a variety of CAC medical care delivery systems in the US 3), recognizing cutaneous signs and symptoms of child abuse as well as skeletal injuries associated with pediatric physical abuse 4) identifying the collection methods and treatment of STIs and defining the meaning of "normal", "indeterminate", exams or exams that reveal acute/chronic genital/anal findings vs conditions that mimic abuse when assessing genital/anal physical findings. In addition being able to interpret relevant research, language and behavior of sexual abuse victims, and communicating to other medical professionals in language that address the findings on an exam 5) explain the pathophysiology and diagnosis of abusive head trauma 6) prepare medical testimony for mock trial and identify skills, identify ethical medical testimony and challenges encountered by a medical professional testifying in court on child abuse cases.

This training is appropriate for:
